AN OVATION TO THE KING ADVISED YOUNG MEN GO SOUTH

(By Associated Press.)
TRONDHJEM, June 20.—The event of to-day in connection with the prepara-VII, and Queen Maud was the arrival of the Prince and Princess of Wales and their children, on board the British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, convoyed by the British second-class cruisers Juno and Talbot. The close kinship of the King and Queen of Norway to the Prince of Wales made the meeting particularly sympathetic. The Prince of Wales em-braced his sister and warmly greeted his bróther-in-law, and took the little Crown Prince Olaf in his arms. Later the mem-bers of the suites were presented to each other.

The royal party remained on the victoria and Albert until 6 o'clock, when they returned to the landing, where they awaited the coming of the Prince and Princess of Wales.

The departure of the King and Queen and the Prince and Princess of Wales from the British royal yacht was the signal for another series of salutes. A great throng surrounded the landing and gave King Haakon an ovation. When the Prince and Princess of Wales arrived at the landing, King Islakon took the arm of the Prince of Wales and marched with him up the landing and along is front of the guard of honor, the band playing the national anthem and the crowd cheering enthusiastically. Queen Maud and the Princess of Wales and their children entered a carriage together, King Haakon and the Prince of Wales entering another. The British minister and the members of the suites and aldes followed, and the party drove to the palace through crowded streets.

Investigating the Cause.

The question of the origin of the massacre was carefully investigated. Although many of the Jews denied that a homb was thrown; at the Corpus Christiprocession. Thursday, the fact that a homb was thrown is established beyond a doubt, but the question of who threw the bomb remains unsettled.

The accounts of impartial witnesses, however, demonstrate that an insulting cry enraged the Jews, who attacked the religious procession. Then from one end of the city to the other the police spread the report of the attack, thus fanning the religious fanaticism of the Christians and setting loose the worst elements upon the Jews, on whom the crow's watching the procession had already turned.

The Jews at first fought with revolvers and bombs, and with these weapons the majority of the Christian victus were killed. But the Jews were soon overwelmed and field for shelter, like rabbits to warrens, into cellars or attics.

The soldiers watched this chase and butchery, sometimes laughing with indifference, but never falling to fire into houses where Jews, sometimes to the number of a hundred, were making a stand against their assallants. The soldiers watching to stop the massacre were, with the police and troops in open sympathy with the mob, utterly powerless.

Not Planned at St. Petersburg,
Although it is freely charged that the higher authorities of Bialystok deliberately organized the massacre, or, if this was not the case, that it was carried out under orders from St. Petersburg, there is no evidence to support either charge. According to the investigations of the parliamentary commission, whose members were especially anxious to eludicate this point. M. Schepkin, of Odessa, a member of the commission, said:

"We wished especially to bring home the responsibility to the government if the massacre was organized in St. Petersburg. But our conclusions are that it was not planned in St. Petersburg. Neither do we find proof that Chief of Police Sherometieff, of Bialystok, was a party to the plot. However, the responsibility of his subordinates, together with that of the rank and file of the police and some of the military officers who fondly imagine that the odious system of Von Plelive and Trepoff has not ended, is clearly proven.

"We have failed to clear up whether a Not Planned at St. Petersburg.

and Treport has not ended, is clearly proven.

"We have failed to clear up whether a policeman or an anarchist threw the bomb. Our investigations only demonstrate that the real cause of this and similar tragedies is the position of the Jews, which makes the ignorant Russians consider them to be parlabs, outside the protection of the law. The Jews everywhere are now organizing societies for self-defence, and as soon as they show the slightest resistance to persecution they will be treated by the troops and ignorant populace as revolutionists, for whom a simple death is too good, Farliament must insist on the punishment of the guilty."

As proof of the charge that the massacre was prepared in advance, the Jews claim that the keepers of the government wine-shops received notice the day before the outbreak to remove their cash from the shops to safer places.

ON SECTIONALISM

Shall Manhood or Mammon Prevail in the Government of This Country.

(By Associated Press.)
PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 20.—Henry Watterson, of Kentucky, delivered an address to-day at the commencement banquet of Brown University on "Sectionalism," which he declared he had fought all of his life and against which he would set provincialism and the spirit of provincialism.

would set provincialism and the spirit of provincialism.

"The one is a destroyer, the other a builder," said Mr. Watterson. "Sectionalism deals with the remote and unfamillar. It makes distinction. It raises digreences. It breeds hatred and organizes mistakes. It is not easy to establish fixed projudice between kindred communities lying slohgside. Too much intercourse; too many common interests; too many ties of blood and affection. In the final equation the good and the true will outweigh the sinister and the false.

"But distance lends not always enchantment—sometimes misconception and acrimony—to the view, too ofton enabling the self-seeker and the bigot the easter to do their blighting. Why is it that we so condemn, and yet so cultivate sectionalism? It is because that unconsciously our opinions take the color of our interests, and that, in a country so separate and so vast, their interests sometimes conflict."

Mr. Watterson, declared the great issue now is embodied in the simple question? Shall mammon or manhood prevail in the government of the country? His faith, he said, was strong that the answer will be on the side of manhood. Mr. Watterson asked the young graduates to go Bouth.

The regular police target practice took place yesterday afternoon in the Seventh-street Armory. The shifts from the First and the Second Stations appeared, and the points made by the different officers showed that target practice has been of much benefit to the men. In the First District squad Sergeant Kerse was one of the "high guns." He made 25 points; Officers Matt and Bryant made the same number, and Officer Johnson got 23.

The honors of the Second District were carried of by Sergeant Holdcroft, who made 24 points, and by Officers Neisz and Nuckols. Officer Neisz tied Sergeant Holdcroft and Officer Nuckols was one point lower, and thereby tied Officer Johnson, of the First District.

stable George Carter for the arrest of D. W. May, of No. 108 Bowling Green Road, a young man who has recently been employed at the American Locomotive Works. He is charged with criminal assault, on a young woman at these sault, on a young woman at the sea Hill about a week ago.

The father of the alleged victim, a gray-haired old man, went to Constable Carter Tuesday and in great distress told of the outrags.

May is reported as having disappeared from his home and place of work and leaves about $15 back pay at the Locomotive Works, which he was wise enough not to collect, as the paymaster there had been notified to call the police if he appeared for his wages.

Officially the Richmond police know nothing of the affair, as it is not within their hound, but it is understood that several city police, of whom Officer Hatton A. Amos, of the bloycle squad, is one, have been busy on the case privately. Knowledge of the assault has been for several days in the possession of a few who have been hunting for May, and they tried to keep it caller, as publicity would make capture all the more difficult.

As yet the whereabouts of May are uncertain. He disappeared shortly after the crime was committed, and has not been seen since, which association he became president in 1905.

He has been associated in educational capacities with the public schools of Illinois, the Y. M. C. A., Michigan school, together with the State University of Michigan and the University of California.
